

Myanmar is the 2nd largest opium producing country in the world 25% of estimated global production.

Myanmar Poppy cultivation has jumped 17% from 2011 to 2012 despite government efforts.

The country is a major source of methamphetamine pills and opiates in Southeast Asia.

The major cause of the increases of drug production has been attributed to ongoing instability conflict.

According to the UNODC report South-East Asia Opium Survey 2012 - Lao PDR, Myanmar

Source: UNODC, 'The State of the World Drug Problem 2014', p. 10. <http://www.unodc.org/wdr2014/>